COWBOY UP!

guests Boot Scoot and boogie

On Saturday, February 26, local cowboys and cowgirls attended the hoedown of the season. Cowboy Up!, the OMH Foundation's third annual event, generated more than $150,000 in support of the Radiation Oncology Center's need for a PET scanner.

"Howdy, partner!" "Ride'em, Cowboy!" and "Whoa, Nellie!" were a few common sayings heard from the 800 guests that arrived at the Jacksonville American Legion that evening. Many were excited to dress the theme and purchased cowboy hats, boots and chaps for the special night.

Special thanks to the long list of dedicated sponsors including Golden Corral, Richard Ray Real Estate, and the Rotary Club of Sneads Ferry. Also thank you to the Foundation Decorations Committee, headed by Karin Dickerson of SurgiCare and volunteer Pam Strickland, who used hay and saddles to transform the American Legion. In addition, gratitude is owed to the many other volunteers, including the Marines and Sailors who helped set up for the event.

A portrait session, a beach condo rental, and a seven-layer German chocolate cake were just a few of the items involved in bidding wars during the silent auction, organized by Lee Ann Thomas.

Attendees line danced their boots off to an array of music provided by Taco and Maria's DJ Services, while others enjoyed listening to Ryan Shupe and the RubberBand play their up-tempo country tunes. A few were escorted to jail by the volunteer deputies on hand, but were released after donating $10 for bail!

"We are so very grateful to everyone involved in Cowboy Up!," said OMH Foundation Executive Director Tim Strickland. "We recognize the time, dedication and compassion of the Foundation Board and Events Committee members, and the remarkable generosity of the many donors who have made a meaningful difference for local cancer patients."
